Making a World of Difference...

UNIVERSITY INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE

THE LARGEST

One out of every two high school seniors participates in a UIL contest prior to graduation.

Each year, almost two million students in grades two through twelve participate in one or more of the 36 literary and academic, five major music, and twelve athletic contest areas. Not only is the UIL the oldest state high school association of its kind in the world, it currently serves a larger geographic area, schedules a greater variety of contests, holds more meets, and enjoys a greater school membership than any similar organization in existence.

Under UIL direction, Texas fields more high school baseball, football, basketball, and track teams than any other state, and is second nationwide in volleyball team participation.

The UIL also conducts the largest competitive drama program in the world and sponsors the Interscholastic League Press Conference, the nation's largest state high school journalism association.

Best of all, participation in extracurricular activities is an educational bargain. In virtually every case, UIL activities account for less than one percent of each member school's budget. This includes equipment, supplies, transportation, coaches' salaries and a portion of the utility bills. Fifty percent of the students at one percent of the budget! It is the best bargain in public education today.

THE FINEST

The UIL's Prescribed Music List is used by more than 30 states as well as seven foreign nations.

In addition, its calculator applications and number sense contests have been studied and emulated worldwide. Virtually every UIL contest has been used as a standard by which excellence is judged. While many states provide only athletic competition, the UIL offers the most comprehensive literary and academic program in the nation. Contests range from current issues & events to poetry interpretation, from headline writing to number sense. Each year, outside groups ask the UIL to sponsor their contests, so they may take advantage of UIL structure and guidance.

Because the UIL has maintained a close relationship with The University of Texas at Austin and other host colleges and universities, public schools have enjoyed the expertise of many of the nation's finest educators, who serve as contest directors and judges. Also, public schools have access to outstanding classroom and athletic facilities at nominal costs.

Finally, the UIL developed and administers the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation. Since its inception in 1957, the TILF has awarded more than $8.5 million in college scholarships to approximately 8,300 UIL state literary and academic meet participants. The TILF is a program unique to Texas and the UIL.

THE STRONGEST

Rules are made by school people who best understand the nature of educational competition.

Contests could not exist without rules. And UIL rules are adopted and altered by public school administrators, whose responsibility is to the overall educational program of the local school district rather than individual contests. The superintendent ensures that contests remain strictly amateur and educational.

The purpose of UIL contests is to provide healthful, character-building experiences that teach lessons in sportsmanship, teamwork and individual responsibility. Participation is its own reward. Students learn humility in victory, grace in defeat.

Administrators actively seek input from coaches, teachers, contest sponsors, educational association officials, school board members, parents and the public before voting in a democratic manner for the rules by which all students compete. Once adopted, rules are monitored closely by administrators. It is good to remember that school people are more aware of societal changes than the average person because they deal with students on a daily basis, and no group more accurately reflects changes in society than do teenagers.

The strength of the UIL is its commitment to grass roots control by school officials, whose sole concern is the development of the total student.

HISTORY

The University Interscholastic League was created by The University of Texas at Austin to provide leadership and guidance to public school debate and athletic teachers. In 1909, with the approval of the Board of Regents, Dr. S.E. Mezes, president of The University of Texas, organized and formed the Extension Bureau. He also appointed Professor Charles Ramsdell to investigate the need for a high school athletic organization. After talking with public school officials, Professor Ramsdell suggested organizing an Interscholastic Athletic Association. The proposal was approved and the UIL's two parent organizations - the Debate League of Texas and the Interscholastic Athletic Association - became operational.

In 1913, the Debating League and Athletic Association merged to form the University Interscholastic League, which was centered in the Bureau of Public School Services, then a part of Extension Division of The University of Texas. Today, the UIL operates as part of Division of Continuing Education of The University of Texas. Since 1910, the records and achievements of state high school participants have justified the decision of the University of Texas to support this program of public school service.

The UIL has grown into the largest interschool organization of its kind in the world, and is the envy of similar groups nationwide. The voluntary membership, non-profit organization exists to provide educational extracurricular academic, athletic, and music contests. The initials "UIL" have come to represent quality educational competition administered by school people on an amateur and equitable basis.

SERVICES

The UIL is a non-profit service organization that provides a wide variety of activities and programs.

The UIL:

- Provides students with educational experiences through competition.
- Promotes good sportsmanship and cooperation among member schools.
- Works to prevent exploitation of students by special interest groups.
- Publishes a monthly newspaper called The Leaguer, mailed to all member schools, UIL adjudicators and officials, and interested Texas news media.
- Works closely with associations to provide better officiating and adjudication for UIL contests.
- Sponsors regional conferences and clinics for athletic, music, drama, student press, and academic contests.
- Provides materials to member schools for use in UIL activities.
- Seeks to safeguard the health and welfare of students by requiring physical examinations for participation in athletics.
- Sponsors district, regional, and state tournaments or meets in athletic, music, drama, journalism, and academic contests.
- Provides drama teachers with an extensive Drama Loan Library of more than 26,000 plays.
- Sponsors the Interscholastic League Press Conference, an organization dedicated to the development of a responsible, mature, student press.
- Administers the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation, a scholarship program for academic state competitors.
- Sponsors the Denius-UIL Award, honoring outstanding UIL program sponsors, coaches and directors.

PURPOSE

The purpose of the UIL is to organize and properly supervise contests that assist in preparing students for citizenship. It aims to provide healthy, character building, educational activities carried out under rules providing for good sportsmanship and fair play for all participants.

Sensible organized competition under proper controls has demonstrated its value and has furnished inspiration to talented students for many years. Roy Bedichek, UIL Director from 1921-1948, once said, "School and community opinion should be so conditioned that every interschool contest dramatizes not only the reign of law but the reign of a higher law giving the Spirit of the rules precedence over the Letter, thus establishing a jurisdiction in which Conscience is the court of final appeal, empowered to confer the ultimate and most highly valued awards." The UIL does not provide a contest for every student, but does fill the need for those with the physical and intellectual capacity to excel in activities beyond the classroom. The UIL has the active support of most school administrators, teachers, and citizens in Texas.

Making a World of Difference...

University Interscholastic League

ACADEMIC DIVISION

The University Interscholastic League offers the most comprehensive literary and academic competitive program in the nation. It offers more than any other UIL Division in terms of activities, with 36 individual activities. More than one-half million students participate in UIL academic contests.

These activities, which exist to complement the academic curriculum, are designed to motivate students as they acquire higher levels of knowledge, to challenge students to confront issues of importance, and to provide students with the opportunity to demonstrate mastery of specific skills. They are offered at the elementary, junior high and high school level. The majority of elementary and junior high schools use their activities as accelerated programs for high achievers.

The UIL provides contest study packets for each activity, handbooks developed by experts in each respective field, instructional videotapes and conferences which offer program enrichment and instruction. The journey to state competition introduces contestants to the campuses of some 18 colleges and universities statewide through district and regional contests.

The League's One-Act Play competition is the largest play production contest or play festival in the world. This activity is supported by over 200 college and university faculty serving as critic judges, 50 colleges and universities providing site facilities and 150 school administrators providing facilities and serving as contest managers. The One-Act Play competition is an integral component of the educational theatre curriculum, and is considered by historians to be the foundation of the educational and community theatre programs in Texas.

Also under the auspices of the UIL is the Interscholastic League Press Conference, an association of junior high and high school newspaper and yearbook staffs. One of the largest state high school press associations, ILPC coordinates summer workshops, a spring convention and numerous special-interest seminars. Each is designed to improve the quality of student writing and thinking skills.

ATHLETIC DIVISION

The UIL Athletic Division is based on the premise that students are students first, and athletic participation is a privilege. In addition to learning teamwork and group responsibility, these students obtain skills essential for strong citizenship and leadership. Those students participating in athletics tend to make better grades than students who are not participating in any other school activity.

The Division fields more high school baseball, football, basketball and track & field teams than any other state, and is second highest in volleyball. This Division is the largest within the UIL in terms of attendance. Its 20 activities include almost a million participants at the junior high and high school levels.

The Athletic Division also draws the majority of the UIL's media coverage. Football is currently broadcast over network television in all 19 Texas media markets, as well as a delayed broadcast on ESPN. Boys' basketball and baseball are very likely to follow. These three activities are also carried on statewide radio, along with girls' basketball, volleyball, soccer, and track & field. The remaining athletic activities often receive radio coverage at the local level.

MUSIC DIVISION

The UIL Music Division is the envy of the nation. Its purpose is to provide statewide music competitions that enhance the many roles music plays in our society. It encompasses 10 activities and includes 356,682 participants in junior high and high school. Because of the department's first class reputation, music activities often receive media coverage on public access television.

The UIL's Music competitions are unique among League activities, inasmuch as they do not determine a state champion in most contests. Student musicians who participate in these contests are critiqued and rated against an accepted set of performance standards, rather than in "head to head" competition. Adjudication is performed by professional musicians and music educators who are recognized throughout the nation for their musical expertise.

An additional service of the Music Division is the production and distribution of The Prescribed Music List. This document, which specifies the graded repertoire used for all music contests in Texas, is developed and continuously refined by the UIL. It is also used by more than 30 other states and seven foreign nations as a guide for music competition.

UIL DIRECTOR RETIRES

After 17 years at the helm, UIL Director Bailey Marshall said he is tired. His 27-year tenure with the University Interscholastic League officially ended on March 1, 1994.

Marshall said he planned to "continue in some way to support the education system" but added that the grind of constant litigation and other battles has taken its toll.

"I don't plan to retire totally but to slow down and lift the burden off these shoulders because they are getting a little tired and weary," he said.

Marshall said he was most proud of the greatly improved and enlarged academic program "that better meets the needs of the students in our school. In particular, I am proud of the growth in the number of programs offered at the elementary and junior high level and the number of schools that participate."

Other significant changes he cited were:

- Creating more flexibility in the penalty structure. "Today the UIL may penalize the person responsible for the violation rather than the students," he said. "This has resulted in a reduction of what we call automatic 'death penalty' rules and disqualification for teams."

- Allowing for appeals and hardship waivers of eligibility rules.

- Providing flexibility in playing and workout rules that allow more freedom to coaches and players.

- Achieving better ethnic and gender representation on the League's legislative and judicial committees and on the administrative staff.

- Improving the music and athletic programs, especially the girls' athletic programs, both in numbers of activities and number of participants.

"I am proud of the League and feel it will continue to be one of the most effective and efficient organizations operated in the public school business because the schools are directly involved with the process of rule making and rule enforcement," Marshall said. "The organization belongs to the schools, and as long as the schools are allowed to oversee it, it will be strong."

THE MARSHALL PLAN

- Joined UIL in February, 1967 as an assistant athletic director; named athletic director in September, 1967; named assistant to the director in September, 1972; appointed UIL director, September, 1977.

- Was a teacher and an administrator in public schools in Gladewater, White Oak and Lockhart, and achieved a winning record as football and track coach at White Oak, including a state championship in track in 1958. In addition to his Ph.D. from UT-Austin, Marshall holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Stephen F. Austin State University. He was selected to the Hall of Fame and Hall of Honor at Stephen F. Austin.

Marshall has been directly responsible for much of the League's strength, school officials say.

"The University Interscholastic League, under the direction of Dr. Bailey Marshall, has become the most respected, emulated organization of its kind in the United States," said Virgil D. Tiemann, 1994-95 chairman of the UIL Legislative Council, the policy-making body of the organization. "Literally millions of Texas youth and thousands of coaches, directors and sponsors owe a debt of gratitude to Dr. Marshall for his years of dedicated leadership."

Dr. Thomas Hatfield, dean of UT's Division of Continuing Education, praised Marshall for his "remarkable dedication to duty as director of the UIL. He has been willing to assume and exercise the many responsibilities of the office. Most outstanding has been his consistency in making fair and reasonable decisions to enforce standards and rules. Often his decisions demanded great courage, and I know of no instance in which he shirked from his duty because, in the most fundamental sense, he has always devoted himself to what he believed was best for the school children of Texas."

DENIUS-UIL AWARD

The Denius-UIL Sponsor Excellence Award seeks to highlight the contribution of sponsors to UIL scholastic competition. The award was created to identify and recognize outstanding sponsors who assist students in developing and refining their extracurricular talents to the highest degree possible within the educational system while helping them to keep their personal worth separate from their success or failure in competition.

Each year, the award honors 10 University Interscholastic League (UIL) sponsors in extracurricular activities. The 1994 winners included six sponsors in academics, two in athletics and two in music. A panel of judges chose the 10 winners from a field of approximately 100 nominees submitted by school principals and superintendents from across the state. The winners received $1,000 each from the UIL.

The Denius-UIL Award was made possible by a grant from the Effie and Wofford Cain Foundation and UIL corporate funds. Frank W. Denius, for whom the award is named, has been director of the Cain Foundation since 1955 and Executive Committee Chairman from 1983 until present.

1994-95 Winners

Don T. Haynes - LBJ HS (Austin)

First, I believe that music is one of God's most treasured gifts to mankind. Music teaches kids to feel emotions and express them through a creative means while it builds character, self-respect and self-esteem. I also believe that what I do for my students makes a very special impact on their lives.

Eddy Ellis Peach - Lamar HS (Arlington)

My philosophy is to provide, within the framework of the school, the students with the opportunity to reach their full potential and to guide them in reaching their goals. When my students have advanced to the next level of life, I hope that I have prepared them for their future.

Linda Winder - Angleton HS

As a teacher my major responsibility is to see that my students learn. They set their goals high and then I do everything possible to help them reach their goals, whether as a teacher, coach, counselor, surrogate parent, chauffeur, cook or custodian.

Denise Green - West Texas HS (Stinnett)

The most valuable rewards gained from competition are intrinsic. I like to think that through the UIL experience I help each student discover and develop his or her unique talents. Each student has a gift to contribute to society, and whether they win or lose, they always grow.

Joe Trevino - Bishop HS

Competition should be an enhancement and extension of the classroom. It should stress the positive and give young people those skills that can be utilized in all facets of their lives. In competition students gain a sense of responsibility to self, school and community.

Larry Matysiak - Clements HS (Sugar Land)

Competition should motivate students but not consume them. It should help them to work together. We instill in our students the belief that the most worthwhile accomplishments are those done with other people. Sharing and helping fellow students is all important. It is up to the teacher to lead them in this journey.

Julius Scott - Center Point HS

In our relationship with students we must always be aware of the tremendous influence our position projects, for good or bad. It is our goal and desire that the young people who have participated under our leadership are finer and more decent persons for having done so.

David White - Stamford HS

Competition is the driving force in many students' quest for academic excellence. UIL academic contests provide an opportunity for students to use the motivation stimulated by the competition to reach greater heights than they would ordinarily have achieved.

Jean Adams - Sealy HS

Competition is the tool by which students can increase their self-esteem and self-worth. I believe that any student given the chance to compete will come away from the contest a winner. When we believe that we have already won just for trying we can't help but feel better about ourselves.

Barre Gonzalez - Overton HS

Competition within an educational environment is a means for self-discovery. I believe that all students should be afforded the opportunity to participate. I encourage students to try several UIL events so they may uncover a hidden talent or gift that may otherwise go undiscovered.
